- Reduces fading of fabrics and furnishings
- Retains your view with excellent visibility
- Adds privacy
- Increases the safety and security of your home or office

What to look for in a Window Tint

- 1. Quality – low quality tints will fade, bubble, crack and demetalise. Not only does this look unsightly, but it also becomes ineffective. Ensure you are getting what you pay for.
- 2. UV Protection – ultra-violet rays are damaging. In addition to the harm they cause your skin, UV rays also fade curtains, carpet and furnishings. A good tint will provide almost 100% protection from UV rays.
- 3. Glare Reduction – depending on the tint you choose, it is possible to cut out more than 80% of outside glare. Choosing a tint with significant glare reduction qualities will save strain on your eyes, the annoying reflection on television and computer screens and make your living more comfortable
- 4. Heat Blocking – better quality window tints can block up to 80% of radiant heat from the sun. By absorbing heat, window tint makes your home cooler and comfortable, and in turn reduces cooling costs.
- 5. Optical Clarity - it is important that your vision of the outdoors is not impeded by the tint you choose. Quality tints will ensure visual clarity is maintained, both now and in the future.
- 6. Warranty – Ensure the window tint you choose has a warranty that is relevant to the price you have paid for it. Some high quality window tints offer a full lifetime warranty.
